If you're trying to motivate younger students, short and sweet is the way to go. In fact, I suggest that you don't even explicitly motivate them before you start teaching. Instead, motivate them through the teaching itself. This is done by teaching clear, understandable, and engaging lessons - with a smile if you can manage it.

Teaching a child about God can result in a lifelong relationship between the child and God. In Proverbs 22:6, the Bible says, "Train a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not turn from it." Training a child involves multiple lessons in which a person teaches a child all about God.
